The Tuttle Family - Giving Local

Norwell residents Laura Tuttle and her husband Andrew have thriving professional lives, two small children and a bunch of adorable beagle puppies. Many families at this stage in life don’t have the time and resources to help local charities, especially those who focus on helping seniors and people facing the end-of-life. Yet, the Tuttle family has chosen to invest in NVNA and Hospice and the Pat Roche Hospice Home’s mission. And, we are so grateful for their generous support.

In addition to giving as a family, Laura Tuttle volunteers as a member of the Board of Trustees of the NVNA and Hospice Charitable Fund. She works with other local business leaders to bring awareness and philanthropic support to our mission. Her dedication has encouraged others to give, or at least to learn more about what we do and how we help the community.

Andrew Tuttle says that the Tuttle family has a long history of helping non-profit visiting nurse organizations. He can remember his mother raising funds when he was a little boy. The Tuttle children have a great example in their parents of how to keep giving local and make a difference for all generations in their community.

Thank you, Tuttle family!
